January 1971

Dear Ones,

It is with humility of heart and gratitude that we come to the close of another year of broadcasting and publishing "The Mission Trail". Our heartfelt thanks we extend to each one who has helped to make this possible. And now as you consider the messages contained in this volume we hope they may bring added strength and comfort. During the year there were messages on different subjects. Some of them were a warning to sinners. Others pertained to the people of God and how they should live as an example.

One thing we should never forget so long as we live: that life at its best is very short and brief. Time is fleeting and what we do for God and immortal souls must be done soon, or forever left undone.

We look with renewed anticipation upon the new year of 1971 and desire to be used of God in some small measure in his great kingdom consisting of the wonderful people within his body.

Yours for the truth,

Willie C. Murphey
